

Terms and conditions

The Allotment Grower Plus Card

You will be issued with a plastic scheme membership card, which is not transferable to a third party.

Membership will be cancelled in the event of misuse.

You may request up to 4 cards for use for those you share your allotment with.

The cards remain the property of Adrian Hall Ltd.

The card should be presented in store, at the commencement of every transaction.

Your membership number will be the long number embossed across the front of the card.

The Adrian Hall Allotment Grower Plus card is not a credit card, and does not entitle the holder to any form of credit facilities.

The purpose of the card is to establish an individual cash account, whereby all eligible purchases will be subject to the preset advantageous discount structure outlined above, for the benefit of those customers of Adrian Hall Ltd, who are bona fide allotment holders.

All goods must be paid for prior to collection or delivery.

The primary card, (the first card issued) must be signed by the allotment holder, who will be the applicant, and the signature should match that on the registration form.

The barcode on the card will be scanned at the point of purchase in store, at the commencement of any transaction. This will link to your account, record your purchases, and apply the relevant discount.

On expiry of the card, you will be given the option to renew for a further period, should you wish to do so.

In the event that you relinquish your allotment, please return your card(s) to us.

Adrian Hall Ltd reserve the right to suspend or withdraw the benefits associated with the Allotment Grower Plus scheme at any time.

Changes and alterations

We reserve the right to alter or change our selling prices without notice, as market conditions dictate. Any change in the prevailing rate of VAT will also alter prices.

Goods will be sold at the prices applicable in store, on the day of supply.

Limited period offers will be advised to you as far in advance as is practical, by email.

If we may be of assistance in checking stock levels, or providing information or pricing of any items, we will be pleased to help. Please telephone 020 8751 7600, or email:

allotmentgrower@adrianhall.co.uk

Our general terms and conditions of trading will apply to all transactions.